FIGHTING DEATH.

How Robert Jamison of Pennsylvania Tried to Die.

A Crazy Suicide-The Motives for the Deed-A Terrible Struggle With an Insaue Man-What the Wife and Sister of the Victim Have to Say.

Norristown, Pa., Sept. 30.—Robert M. Jamison, aged forty years, of No. 507 Green street, in this city, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor at his residence shortly before 6 o'clock. He had recently been dismissed from his position of civil engineer on the Germantown & Norristown railroad, and this, it is thought, so preyed on his mind as to lead to the taking of his life.

For several weeks past the deceased had manifested signs of melancholia, but medical aid was not thought necessary.

Dr. L. W. Reed was then summoned, and, after prescribing seclatives, advised his patient to rest in bed and that a nurse be hired to attend him. Mr. Jumisen followed these directions and shortly afterwards, his brother-in-law, Mr. James O. Barnet, who lives in the house, entered the room. Mr. Jamison asked him if he had a revolver, and on Mr. Barnet's inquiring what he wanted with a weapon, replied. "To drive you out of the house." This was the first symptom that the partient's mind was really deranged, as his relations with his brother-in-law had hitherto been of a friendly nature.

At about 5:45 in the morning he left his bed and went to the window. His wife and sister coaxed him backed into bed again. He patted the former's cheek is she drew the sheet over him, then suddenly leaped out on the floor and rushing to the bureau, pulled out a razor, which had been secreted in the back of one of the drawers. With a shriek his wife and sister sprang to snatch the weapon from his grasp, but he had already commenced slashing at his throat. A terrible struggle followed. Mr. Barnet tried to save this brother-in-law, but was compelled to sice from the room to save his own life. Mis. and Miss Jamison hattled bravely with the madman, but with the blood stream iing from a gaping gash he dragged the two feurales to the top of the stairway leading down to the hall, where he succeeded in freeing himself from their grass. He then made several more slashes at his throat, severing the carotid arteries, and rolling to the hallway below expired almost instantly. Mrs. Jamison ran to the window of the room, which is on the secoud story, and, throwing open the shutters, waved her blood-covered arms and franticall webed murder. Two neighbors, Mrs. John H. Boyer and Witham 11. Landis heard her cries and at once summoned Chief of Police Rodenbaugh. They burst in the street door and entered the hall, where a sickening sight met their view. Extended on the floor lay the just expiring suicide covered from head to fout with blood. The stairway and wall, as well as the room above, were bespatiered with blood. On all sides over the course taken by the suicide were evidences of the desperation with which he fought to take his life and of the heroic struggle of the two ladies who tried to avert the catastro-

News of the sad affair spread to all parts of the town, and soon an excited and inquiring crowd collected in front of the house. Coroner Aiken was notified, and permission was given to bury the body. Besides being dismissed from his position it appears that Mr. Jamison last work failed to sell some property belonging to an estate of which he was executor. This fact also added to his melancholy. leaves two young daughters, who last we-! were on a visit with their mother at Exton, Pa. While there Mrs. Jamison received a telegram from her husband star ing that she need not hurry home, as he was taking care of the children. This also was an evidence of the unsoundness of his mind. Mrs. Jamison at once cam: home. Some time ago Mr. Jamison was partially blind and underwent a surgical operation to his eyes.

A NEW COMPANY.

An All-Rail Route Between the Hnd. son and Pennsylvania's Coal Fields.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 30.—A new rail-road company has been organized under the title of the Kingston, Warwick and Easton Railway. It proposes to build new line of road from Montgomery Orange county, the southern end of the Wallkill Valley Railroad—a late pu chase of the New York, West Shore an Buffalo-to a point at or near threy Cour the eastern terminus of the Lehigh m Hudson River Railway. The connection thus made is to form an all-rail libetween Kingston, N. Y., and Easton, Ph. under one management, which will be the shortest possible route for the transport tion of Lehigh coal from the Pennsylvan. coal fields, the upper Hudson River, anpoints in Central New York reached b the New York, West Shore and Buchle also to points in New England via New burg. In addition to ordinary freigh. traffic the new route will carry large ton uage of iron ore back from Lake Cham plain and other mines along the Hudson River into Pennsylvania The new raute will save in distance between the mouth of the Lehigh and the upper Hudson river, is compared with existing routes, about 50 per cent. A Clerk Made Iti by the Gentie Post, mistress of Cambridge.

Bosron, Mass., Sept. 30.—Miss Orissa Bragdon, the Superintendent of the Cam-bridge postoffice, a branch of the Boston office, is under a cloud. Charges have been preferred against her to Postmaster Tobey, of Boston, that she has opened let-ters addressed to her first assistant, Mr. Thomas R. Truudy, and also that she has bulldozed and abused him so that he is now seriously ill from mental misery. The wife of the abused man has made complaint that her husband has been persecuted by the postmistress, and that she has opened Mr. Trundy's mail, both in his absence and in his presence; and upon one occasion had torn up liis letters before his eyes, after reading them and before he had perused them. One of these letters is said to have been written to Mr. Trundy by Congressman Morse. Mrs. Trundy says that Miss Bragdon's conduct is caused by ambition and jealousy. Post-master Tobey was seen and declined to ex-press any opinion about the matter except to say that Mrs. Trundy had written him a letter making complaints and he had replied to it telling her that when Trundy got well he would like to see him; also that Mr. Trundy was an excellent man and an appointment of his Miss Bragdon is a very large lady, with full features and probably forty years of age. She appeared to be surprised when told of Mr. Trundy's condition and how people held her responsible for it. At first she denied everything, but afterwards admitted that she had opened some mail addressed to Mr. Trundy. She asserted that all the trouble had been caused by Mrs. Trundy.

BOSTON'S WILL CASE.

Heirs Seeking to Recover $400,000

Given to an Agent. Boston, Sept. 30.—The trial of the Abigail W. Armstrong will ease begin here. The contestants are the heirs-nt-law of Mrs. Armstrong, who claim that Warren K. Blodgett exercised an undne influence over her. The amount the beirs seek to recover is nearly $400,000, which includes $100,000 paid to Mr. Blodgett for the management of Mrs. Armstrong's estate, and the balance consists of United States bonds and other securities which, it is alleged, she gave him whale in an unsound condition of mind.

A variety of very curious allegations are made in behalf of the heirs, and the caso creates a grand sensation among u large number of wealth families. Mrs. Armstrong died about six months ago at her residence on Beacon street. The house outwardly had every appearance of hixnry, but within was anything but comfortable. Only the kitchen and a room on the second story was used. Mrs. Armstrong livel out a miserable existence, using broken china and silverware, and apologized for them by saving she was too poor to afford others. Her food was generally scanty and poor. Mr. Blodgett asserts that in 1872 Mrs. Armstrong prevailed upon him to give up stantfally all his other business and devote hinself to the care of her property, the consideration being the sum of $100,-000, and that the other securities he had received were voluntary gifts of Mrs. Armstrong, who died early in 1883, eleven years after he took charge of her property. The case will probably occupy the court for two weeks.

FIVE ATTEMPTS.

Desperate Efforts of a Young Woman to Die. l'ulladell'ulla, Sept. 30.-A welldressed young woman was found in un nneonscious condition on the pavement at West College and Girard avenues. She was restored to consciousness and taken to a police station. Shortly afterwards an officer passing the cell discovered her hanging by the neck by a handkerchief from the bars over her cell door. He at once cut her done. She refused to tell the cause of her desiring to end her life. Subsequently she made two more attempts to hang herself she attempted to drown herself by putting her head under the water fancet and permitting the water to run. A watch was kept on her during the rest of the afternoon and night, and she made no other attempt at selfdestruction. Her name is Emily Griffith and she claims to be a resident of Canada. She is about twenty-five years old.

. WENT WEST.

Beasons Why a Young Man Suddenly Disuppeared.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 30.-A week ago l'eter Hershey, a member of the Lancaster bar, went to l'hiladelphia and made an assignment of his property and then mysteriously disappeared. An investigation by his assignee has developed that when he went away he took with him several thousand dollars, raised partly by notes. Hershey has borrowed sums of money from banks in this and Chester counties. From a Parksburg bank 1,000 was seenred; from a Westchester bank $900; from the First National Bank of this city $759, and from the Lancaster County National $1,000. His father's name appeared as the inderser on these notes. During the summer an agent for the sale of lunds on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad had several long conferences with Hershey, and it is supposed that he has gone West.

A Vermont Woman's Queer Break for Revenge-Deliberately Attempting Arson-Some Extraordinary Letters-How a Detective Disguised Himselfas a Tramp, and the Carious Things He Found Out While so Disguised.

TROY, Sept. 30 .- Four months ago today the police were asked to investigate an attempt that had been made to hurn the carriage factory of Strong Brothers, at Benson, Vt. Detective Rogers, who was put on the case, found that an old waist-coat saturated with kerseene and filled with pine chips had been used to start a fire in a lumber pile adjoining the fac-

The cloth was of poculiar pattern, and in a short time the detective found that Joseph Dusham, a French shoemaker, had a coat and trousers just like it. Dusham's the night of the fire she had seen a tramp about the premises, and that the tramp had called on Mrs. Alexander Gibbs, Mrs. Gibbs say she saw the so-called tramp, who bore a resemblance to Mrs. Dusham. She said he wore a dark suit of clothes and a light-colored cap with a faded top. The detective questioned Mrs. Dusham and became satisfied that she had fired the lumber pile. The detective next secured the services of a French girl residing at Amsterdam. She visited Benson under the assumed name of Miss Fanay Wright, and secured a position as chambermaid at a hotel. She was soon on intimate terms with Mrs. Dusham, who confided the fact that she had been guilty of a serious crime against the Strong brothers. Her object was revenge, because they would not eject a family named Dwver from a house owned by the Strong brothers near Mrs. Dusham's residence. A letter was received by Mr. Dwyer signed "D. B. & H. S.," warning him to get out of the house, and concluding as follows: "The evil one can't live with your family. They are a nui-sance to the town, and you must keep them in the house or leave here, or we will make it so hot for you that you will wish you had never been born. We can do it, and by — we will. We give you vour choice—to live in peace or live In Hades." Last Friday Detective Rogers visited Benson disguised as a tramp and verified all the facts obtained by his female assistant. Sunday morning Oxigin and Settlement of an Indian a fire broke out in the house occupied by the Dasham family, and the family moved out. Rogers searched the premises and in the cellar found a cap which corresponded with the one described by Mrs. Gibbs as worn by the tramp. He asked Dusham if he had ever seen it before and the shoemaker said he had. It was one of his old caps which he had thrown aside. Wednesday warrants were secured and Detective Rogers arrested Mrs. Dusham and her husband. The woman confessed that she attempted to burn the factory while disguised as a tramp. She wanted to "got even with the Strong boys for not ordering Dwyer out of the bonse he occupied."

The keeper of Port an Peck drawbridge, near Pleasure Bay, is William Berlia, who, although sixty-five years of age, had already led three blushing brides to the alter and survived them all. Of late he had been paying court to a Mrs. Lane, a comely widow of middle age residing at Oceanport. As the day approached which was set for William's fourth entanglement the hridgekeeper found that he could not obtain a substitute to attend the duties of bridgetender while the ceremoney was performed. A meeting was arraigned to be held on the Port-an-Peck drawbridge on Sunday evening. A elergyman was procured from Long Branch, and during the intervals that Mr. Berlin was not occupied in opening and closing the draw to permit vessels on the Shrewshurv to pass through, the solema words were spoken that made Drawbridge Keeper Berlin and Mrs. Lauc of one flesh. An impromptu lunch was afterwards served on the bridge.

A Republican Senator's View of Re-

"If President Arthur was the candidate

we could carry Colorado easier than with any other man. He has unade a good President and the people are satisfied."

"Hasn't Colorado got a favorite son or two? Might not Senator Hill have some expectations?"

"Oh, no," and the Senator laughed a little. "Hill is only auxious to succeed himself. There are plenty of people in Colorado willing to be President, but I haven't heard of anybody who expects to be. No, there is no doubt about our earrying the State. Of course they beat us the last time, but there was a faction fight among the Republicans. There was treachery. It is admitted that Hill beat Campbell. I believe Hill boasts of it. He won't boast of it in a year from now. FEENY'S ANTECEDENTS.

The Would-Be Murderer in a Dominion Hospital. Toronto, Ont., Sept. 30.-John Feeny, the Irishinan who attempted the life of the British Consul at New York, was an inmate of the Toronto general hospital from April 14 to May 14 of the present year. He reported himself as having been brought out to Canada by the emigration department. Mr. Miller, secretary of the hospital, says that Feeny was suffering from acute mania when admitted, and did not seem to improve much during his stay. While in the institution he was frequently subject to most extraordinary hallucinations, and seemed to be ossessed of a peculiar animus against the British government. Owing to his strange vagaries, which were evidently the result of an unsound mind, the secretary had considerable trouble with him. Feeny left the hospital on the date named, having obtained an order for admittance to the House of Providence. At this latter institution he remained a few days, still behaving in a strange but not dangerous manner, and then left, it is believed, for Butlalo.

WAR AVERTED.

Difficulty. OMAIIA, Neb., Sept. 30.—Later reports fully confirm General Howard's statement, recently published in these dispatches, that the Bannock-Shoshone difficulty is settled. Sometime ago a family of Ban-nocks, at Ross Fork Reservation, were murdered as supposed by Shoshones, and the braves of the former tribe threatened vengeance against the latter. In working up the case it was developed that the Bannock family was wiped out hy a white trapper who had a natural aversion to red men and great admiration for their personal effects. The Bannocks at Washakie found the trapper's trail and following it up finally captured and killed him, throwing his body in a creek. When the friends and relatives of the unurdered family learned that the outrage had been avenged they declared themselves satisfied, and at the time of General Howard's departure the best of feeling prevailed between the two tribes.

QUEER THEFT.

What Paliceman Fulton Saw on a

Street Corner. PINLADELPHIA, Sept. 30 .- While Police. man Fulton was standing on the corner of Eleventh street and Montgomery avenue he noticed a middle-aged man and woman passing with a peculiar, lumbering gait. Suspecting that they had something heavy hidden under their clothes he arrested them. The woman had a shawl over her shoulder which completely hid her arms from view. She was directed to remove the shawl.: She at first refused, but on seeing the officer would do so if she didn't she complied. The officer then discovered that her arms were completely hidden by lead pipe which she had coiled about them. From the pair the officer obtained over one hundred and fifty pounds of lead pipe which they had secreted about their bodies. The prisoners gave their names as Michael Hughes and Elizabeth Carter.

BREWSTER'S FLOWERS.

How the Attorney-General Turned Ugliness Into Beauty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—During the improvements of the Potomac Flats several seow-loads of black muck which were taken out were dumped next to the causeway between the two channels and very near the Long Bridge. The sight presented was not a very pleasant one. It is said that Attorney-General Brewster, early in the summer, rode down to the flats with u number of friends, and when he saw the heaps of mud expressed great dissatisfaction, saying it was an unsightly place and he would try to remedy it. When he re-turned to his office he secured a lot of sunflower seed and sent a man down to the mud heaps to sow them. There is quite a sun-flower garden there.

A Sulcide's, Farewell.

SUNBURY, Pa., Sept. 30.—Charles Price, of Reading, and another young man named Shrunk visited the Sayder County side of the river, using a small hoat. They started to return home about 6:30 o'clock. When at a place where the water is known to be very deep Price got up from his seat and remarked, as he straightened himself, "Good-hy, Bill." Then getting into a stooping position he sprang iato the river and sank beneath the waves. Instant assistance was given him, but the drowning man failed to come up. The body was soon found.

It Fails to Materialise Some Needful Rent.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 30.—The spiritualistic society of this city, after stirring up all the eligible spooks in this section, is now holding a grand sennce, in which its president, Hugh Jones, and its pastor, Moses Hull, are the principal medium.

Moses Hull received a call from the Cleveland society, and, when about to leave the city, his goods were seized on a landlord's warrant, by Jones. It dow transpires that the lease for Hull's house is a contract between Jones and the society of which he is president and Hull as pastor. Boston, Sept. 30 .- The snicide of Mr Edward Bates, of Cambridge, who was to have married Miss Houdlett, of Catskill, on Tuesday, is attributed to entanglements of a social nature. In his pockets were found a lot of stones and soldering irons, and in his private desk were notes addressed to his betrothed and members of his family, announcing his intention of committing suicide. The mysterious woman who so uncermoniously addressed Miss Houdlett has not been discovered, but she is believed to have been one cause of the tragedy. Miss Houdlett is a native of Albany, where she owns considerable real estate. Mr. Bates was also wealthy, and all of his property will go to his children.

Every floor of their immense establishment is packed with

and FURNISHING GOODS, bought by them for CASH at ridiculously low prices, and will be sold without any regard to actual values. We want everybody visiting Cincinnati to come and see how our stores are packed with goods. We want everybody to take advantage of our limitless stock and laughably LOW prices. It is customary for some merchants to put on big profits at the beginning of a season, but we are not of that number.

Average Profit of Five Per Cent.

Is all we want, for we rely on tremendous sales to see us safely through the season.

Our stock of Men's Clothing is the biggest in town. Our stock of Boys' Cloteing is the largest in the west.

Our stock of Hats and Caps for Boys and Men is immense.

Our Shoe Department is the largest in the union. Our Furnishing Goods Stock is mammoth.

A LOST GIRL FOUND.

The Wanderings of a Wayward Kansas Maiden.

Running Away From Home Because She Was Angry-Sad Parting at the Depot With Her Little Sister -Her Wanderings About From Place to Place - Affecting Scene When at Last Found By Her Heart-Broken Mother.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Sept. 30.—A fourteen-year-old girl named Iris Brown, daughter of Joshua Brown, a prominent citizen of Burlingame, in this State, was arrested here und handed over to her mother, who came up irom Kansas City, where she had been searching for her. The girl disappeared from home two months ago, and continuous search was made for her until to-day, much of the time by her mother personally. Telegrams and descriptions were sent to all principal points, and several times clews were obtained, but they led to nothing, and when she received word to come to this city Mrs. Brown had almost given up all hope of ever seeing her daughter. The meeting was very affecting, the mother and child embracing and weeping for half an hour. The girl was clad in an old ealico dress but for all that exhibited a handsome, well-developed form and fresh and fair face, and in talking gave evidence of having been well educated for one of her age. She told the following story with perfect frankness and inno-cence: "I left home because I was mad. I bid my little sister good-by at the deput and sent her home crying as though her heart would break. Two gentlemen from Burlingame were on the train I took. They seemed to know I was running away, and one of them said he would follow me. I answered, 'You will have a hig wild goose chase if you do.' At Topeka I stepped off the train into a dining room and slipped through a door unobserved by them and got back upon the train. I went to Armstrong and visited there awhile with people I knew, and then went to Kansas City and worked in a cracker factory. I was taken with fever and laid up several weeks. When I got better I went to the Dehnonico and waited on table. I got acquainted with a number of girls. I returned to Armstrong and found that the clothes I had left there had been stolen, and I had nothing left but a calico dress. I resurned to the Delmonico and several of the girls made it up to come to Leavenworth. There were Mary McSweeney, Mollie, Lillie and—I don't know their surnames-and Lillie Root. We came up here at the invitation of a man named Ode, who said waiter girls were wanted at the Planters'. I went from there to Mr. Keeling's, at the Fort, and staid until last Thursday, when I came down and applied for a position at the Continental, which they said I could have." It was learned afterward that she went to a house of ill-fame by the advice of one of her companions. She was innocent, but sick and weary and auxious to lind a place to stay. The mistress of the house gave her a room and took care of her, refusing to let any one visit her. This latter statement can be relied upon as

INSANE MURDERER.

Bellef That John McGlan is Will Escape Hanging.

Рипареврша, Pa., Sept. 30.—There is every reason to believe that a reprieve will be obtained from the Board of Pardons for John McGinnis, who is condenined to hang on Thursday, October 4, for the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary R. Reed. This change in the outlook for the wretched man is due to a conviction that has come upon those who are brought into frequent communication with him that he is insane. His head has been turned the subject of religion, and his rhapsodies take such violent shapes at times us to render it unsafe for visitors to remain in the cell with him. Three insanity experts, Dr. Thomas H. Andrews, of the Jellerson Medical College; Dr. S. Preston Jones, of the Pennsylvania Hospital London, Medical College, Preston Jones, of the Pennsylvania Hospital London, Medical College, Dr. S. pital for the Insane and Dr. Chas. K. Mells were employed to diagnose the prisoner's mental condition. They had an interview of an hour each with the patient on Monday and Tuesday last. They have embodied their conclusions in a paper addressed to the Board of Pardons, in which they report that the mind of Mc-Ginnis has been impaired. Sheriff Kiem also gives expression in an affidavit to his belief that the murderer is an irresponsible being.

STATESMEN'S FLATS.

A New Yorker Whose Head Bulges With a Big Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 .- A gentleman professing to represent New York capitalists has been here during the past few days examining the old capitol prison building, just opposite the front of the capitol building, asking the price of the property and of other ground and buildings adjoining, with the object, as he stated, of purchasing the ground and buildings, tearing down the latter and erecting on the site a large building with thats for the use of Congressmen and others. The walls of the building, as it now stands were the walls of the old prison, but the front and interior have long since been remodelled. It is now occupied as a boarding-house.

THE SLUGGERS.

The Sullivan Combination Ridiculed

; in Baltlmore. BALTIMORE, Sept. 3A.—The Sullivan Pugilistic Combination arrived in Baltimore and gave an exhibition at Kernan's Monumental Theater after the regular performance. Sullivan's sparring failed to come up to expectations, and when Slade hit him hard he was laughed at. In the fourth round he lost his temper and knocked the Maori off his feet. Slade saved himself by clutching a piece of scenery and kept from falling. He was loudly cheered. The excitement of the evening was the usual Baltimore row between the spectators at the close of the show over their respective favorites. The police promptly interferred.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachulate eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSUS. J. C. AVER & Co., Gentlemen:
Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfertable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so lidensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer frem a severe catarrh and catarrhai cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal randown. Knowing the value of AVER'S SAUSAPAMILLA, by observation of many ether cases, and from persenal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-maned disorders. My appetite improved almest from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the Sansapanilla, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. Wilds."

The above instance is but one of the many con stantiy coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of Aven's Sansaparilla to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
